QUESTION ONE (25 MARKS)

- You should attempt to answer ALL questions in this section.

Case Study:

Nike, one of the largest global sportswear brands, has faced criticism for its manufacturing practices in developing countries. The company outsourced production to countries with lower labour costs, but this led to allegations of poor working conditions in factories, low wages that failed to meet living standards and exploitation of workers in regions with weaker labour regulations. Nike responded by improving transparency, implementing a code of conduct for suppliers, and increasing oversight of factory conditions.

Q1a. (15 Marks). Discuss three ethical issues for marketing in a global context.

AOU TEXT

CamScanner

Based on the Nike case above, explain how Nike's outsourcing strategy highlights the issue of geographical segregation in business operations. Discuss how weaker labour laws in developing countries contribute to the ethical issues faced by Nike.
