Question 1 (40 Marks)

Scenario: Rana is an HR assistant at a food packaging plant. Several employees have recently complained about unclear roles, unpredictable shifts, and feeling overwhelmed. One worker was seen arguing with his supervisor, while another was sent home with high blood pressure.

a) Identify and describe four possible sources of stress in this workplace. (20 Marks)
b) Select two sources and explain how HR could reduce their impact using practical steps. (20 Marks)

Question 2 (30 Marks)

Scenario: Jad is an HR officer at a construction company. Recently, inspectors noted that employees were working without helmets in certain areas. Some workers claimed supervisors told them to "hurry up and skip the rules" to meet a deadline. Management insists they already have a written safety policy.

a) Identify and describe four weaknesses in the company's approach to safety. (15 Marks)
b) Suggest two HR actions that could make the safety policy effective in practice. (15 Marks)

Question 3 (30 Marks)

Scenario: Mazen is an HR officer at a pharmaceutical company in Lebanon. The company recently launched a new production system without completing a full hazard analysis. Within the first week, two employees reported wrist strain, and one was nearly exposed to a chemical leak due to unclear equipment procedures.

a) Identify three safety risks present in this case. (10 Marks)
b) Describe one advantage of using a Preliminary Hazard Analysis (PHA) in this situation. (10 Marks)
c) Suggest and justify two practical HR actions Joseph can take to prevent similar incidents in the future. (10 Marks)
