QUESTION ONE (15 Marks)

Innovation can be explained through different models that show how new ideas move from creation to the market. Early research highlighted three classic models — Science-Push, Technology-Push, and Need-Pull — which remain fundamental for understanding how innovation happens in practice.

Q1a) Define these three innovation process models. (7.5 marks)

Q1b) Explain with examples how each model works in practice. (7.5 marks)

QUESTION TWO (15 Marks):

Case Study: Talabat's Digital Transformation

Talabat started in 2004 as an online food-ordering website in Kuwait. It solved the problem of long phone calls, wrong orders, and cash-only payments by creating a digital platform where customers could browse menus, order online, and pay using multiple methods. Over time, Talabat expanded across the GCC and introduced a mobile application, digital payments, and real-time tracking.

You should attempt to answer ALL parts of this question.

Q2a. Explain the concept of innovation and identify one type of innovation demonstrated in the Talabat case. (5 Marks)

Q2b. Identify which type of entrepreneurship best fits Talabat and justify your answer. (5 Marks)

Q2c. Discuss one positive impact of Talabat's entrepreneurship on society or the economy, and explain how it is linked to the case. (5 Marks)
