QUESTION ONE (25 MARKS)

- You should attempt to answer ALL questions in this section.

Case Study:

Starbucks has rapidly expanded into international markets, establishing a strong presence in regions such as China, India, and the Middle East. The company has built partnerships with local firms, such as Tata Global Beverages in India, to adapt to regional consumer preferences and navigate cultural differences. Starbucks' expansion strategy focuses on customising its menu, leveraging strong brand recognition, and optimising its global supply chain. This global push aims to solidify its position as the world's leading coffeehouse chain.

Q1 a. (15 Marks).

Organisations often pursue global expansion for a variety of reasons. Discuss only THREE of the reasons that trigger international expansion.
